LONDON.

The Humble ADDRESS of the Houſe of COMMONS to to the KING.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain, in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave to return your Majeſty our unfeigned Thanks for your Majeſty's moſt gracious Speech from the Throne; and to congratulate your Majeſty upon your happy, ſafe, and ſeaſonable Return to theſe your Kingdoms.

WE cannot ſufficiently expreſs our Abhorrence and Deteſtation of the unnatural Rebellion now raging in North-Britain.

PERMIT us to give your Majeſty the ſtrongeſt Aſſurances of our Duty and Affection to your Perſon and Government, and to declare, that we will, with Vigilance, Zeal, and Unanimity, ſhew a Spirit and Vigour becoming this Time of Danger. In order to make theſe Sentiments effectual, your faithful Commons will grant ſuch Supplies, and put ſuch Strength into your Majeſty's Hands, as we truſt in GOD, and hope, from your Majeſty's Wiſdom, cannot fail to defeat the Attempts of thoſe, who have already made one Part of the united Kingdom, and would make the other, a Scene of Blood, Rapine, and Confuſion.

WITH Hearts full of Gratitude we acknowlege, that, under your Majeſty's Royal Protection, we have lived in an uninterrupted and ſecure Enjoyment of our Religion, Laws, and Liberties.

AS all theſe are now wickedly and openly attacked, we are bound by every Conſideration, human and divine, to exert ourſelves in the Defence of your ſacred Perſon and Government.

YOUR Majeſty may ſafely rely on the Zeal and Vigour of your faithful Commons; who are reſolved to act like Men ſenſible of the Bleſſings we enjoy, and determined to preſerve thoſe Bleſſings to ourſelves and our Poſterity.

WE beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty on the general Concurrence of your Subjects in theſe Sentiments of Duty to your Majeſty, and Zeal for your Service; which happy Union, we doubt not, will, by your Majeſty's Wiſdom, be improved to the future Glory and Welfare of your Crown and People, and to the utter Confuſion and Diſappointment of the Enemies to both.

London, September 14. The following is a Copy of the Letter, ſent by his Grace the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, to the Clergy of his Dioceſe and peculiar Juriſdiction.

Reverend Sir,

A Conſiderable Number of rebellious Perſons having appeared in Arms in Scotland, and now advancing Southward; and theſe Nations being likewiſe threatened with a powerful Invaſion from abroad, in order to advance to the Throne of theſe Kingdoms a popiſh Pretender, to the manifeſt Hazard as well of our holy eſtabliſh'd Religion and civil Liberties, as of the ſacred Perſon and Government of our moſt gracious Soverign King GEORGE; you are hereby deſired and admoniſhed, agreeably to your known Duty, by your Example, by your Exhortations, as well private as public, and by all other Means in your Power, to excite the People under your Care to exert, on this moſt important Occaſion, their utmoſt Zeal for the Preſervation of our happy Conſtitution in Church and State. I do earneſtly recommend you and your Labours to the Divine Bleſſing, and am,

Reverend Sir,

Your Faithful Friend,

Lambeth, Sept. 9, 1745.

And Well-wiſher,

J. CANTERBURY.

Sept. 17. We hear that Admiral Vernon has 12 Folkſtone Cutters, which he diſpatches continually to the Coaſt of France, to bring him Intelligence of the Motions of the French.

Sept. 21. In order to amuſe and keep the People quiet at Paris, the Miniſtry have propagated a Story, that M. de Beacharnois, Governor of Canada, has raiſed an Army of 10,000 Men, with which he has marched over Land from Quebeck, and has recovered Cape-Breton. This ſhews how much the Loſs of that Place galls the French.

The Biſhop of Hereford has addreſſed a Letter to the Clergy and Laity of his Dioceſe, which ends thus; From Popiſh Tyranny in Church, and French Tyranny in State, Good Lord deliver us.

Several other Biſhops have alſo ſent circular Letters through their reſpective Dioceſes, exhorting the Clergy to pray, and the Laity to fight.

On Thurſday, ſix Waggons loaded with Muſkets, were ſent from the Minories to Wooburn in Bedfordſhire, for the Service of his Grace the Duke of Bedford; whoſe Regiment of 1000 Men will be compleat in a few Days.

From the LONDON GAZETTE,

Whitehall, October 1. This Day arrived Letters, dated September 21, from Vice-Admiral Martin, who is cruiſing off the Lizard with his Squadron, giving an Account, that he had been, three Days before, cruizing off Breſt, in Sight of which Port, he took a ſmall French Man of War; that there was then only the Elizabeth in Breſt Water; but that it was ſaid, there were nine large Ships in that Harbour.

On the 28th paſt his Majeſty's Ship the Milford, Capt. Hanway, arrived at Plymouth from a Cruize, and carried in 55 French Priſoners, belonging to the La Maline, a French Man of War Snow, of 8 Guns and 70 Men, taken by his Majeſty's Ship the Lyon, about 12 Days ago, as ſhe was going into Breſt. The Maline parted from the Milford in a Fog, on the 27th; but is ſuppoſed to be got into Falmouth.

Four of the Ships mentioned to be taken by a French Privateer, on the 26th Inſtant, are ſince retaken by the Sheerneſs Man of War: Three of them are carried into Margate, and one is arrived at Sheerneſs.

We are informed that a new Plan has been preſented to the Government, for eſtabliſhing and diſciplining a Militia of Cavalry; which it is conceived will be particularly uſeful, in Caſes either of ſudden Inſurrections, or of foreign Invaſions.

They write from Liverpool, of the 28th of September, that they were raiſing a Regiment, to conſiſt of 1000 Men; that 700 had then liſted, and others were hourly entering; ſo that they expected to have it complete in a few Days: That the Corporation had ſubſcribed 1000*l.* and the Merchants had engaged to ſupply what more might be wanting.

The Hon. Commiſſioners of Lieutenancy for the City of London have, in Obedience to his Majeſty's Command, ordered the Trained Bands of this City to be carefully exerciſed, and made fit for immediate Service.

We are informed that the Right Hon. the Earl of Clenrickard waited on his Majeſty, and offered to raiſe and maintain a Regiment of 1000 Gentlemen Voluntiers.

The Gentlemen of the County of York have already ſubſcribed 90,000*l.* for arming, cloathing, and paying 4000 Men; and have reſolved to augment that Sum, if neceſſary. A great Number of Gentlemen Voluntiers have agreed to ſerve at their own Charge; among whom 1000 Horſe are expected in the Field.

We hear that upwards of 300 young Gentlemen of the County of York, have offered to ſerve as Voluntiers againſt the Rebels, wherever his Majeſty's Service ſhall require; and deſire to be called the King's Royal Hunters: They mount themſelves upon hunting Horſes, and each take a Servant, whom they mount and arm alſo.

On Thurſday laſt, the Nobility, Clergy, and Gentlemen of Lancaſhire, aſſembled at the Town-Hall in Preſton; and with the greateſt Unanimity, entered immediately into an Aſſociation to raiſe immediately a Body of 3000 Men for his Majeſty's Service.

DUBLIN, October 1.

On Sunday Morning arrived an Expreſs from England, and at Night two others, with Diſpatches for the Government. And Yeſterday the ſecond Battalion of the Royal Regiment of Foot, and the Regiment commanded by the Hon. Col. Battereau, embarked on board the Tranſports lately hired for that Purpoſe, and in the Evening ſail'd for Cheſter. We hear they are to be quarter'd in Lancaſhire, and the Parts adjacent.

Yeſterday Morning the eldeſt Company of the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor's Regiment of Militia, mounted the City Guard, and are to be relieved this Day by the eldeſt Company of the Regiment commanded by Col. Pearſon.

The ſame Day a Troop of the Royal Regiment of Horſe, mounted Guard at the Caſtle, and will continue to do Duty there till the Arrival of ſome of the Regiments of Foot from Country Quarters.

October 5. The Maſter of a Ship arrived at Waterford, from Liſbon, has brought Advice, that the Tigris Privateer, of Dartmouth, of 24 Guns, 6 Pounders, and [illegible] Men, had [illegible] and carried in there a French Ship of 400 Tons, [illegible] Guns and 190 Men, laden with dry Goods, chiefly Linen, bound from Nantz to Cadiz. She was built and fitted out for a Privateer, and was to go on a Cruize when her Lading was diſcharged. The Tigris at firſt ran very cloſe along ſide of her, and poured in a Broadſide of great and ſmall Arms, which made dreadful Havock, killed 24 outright, and wounded grievouſly between 30 and 40 more; whereupon ſhe ſheered off, and ran for 3 or 4 Hours, but the Tigris overtaking her ſhe ſtruck.

We hear from Liverpool, that Batteries have been erected in all the Avenues leading to the Town, and all other Precautions taken for its Defence, in caſe of Need.

On Tueſday laſt a Number of Diſſenters waited upon his Excellency the Lord-Lieutenant with a moſt dutiful and loyal Addreſs, in behalf of themſelves and the reſt of the Proteſtant Diſſenters in this Kingdom; which Addreſs his Excellency was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly, and gave Directions for its being tranſmitted to England, to be laid before his Majeſty.

On Wedneſday laſt his Excellency the Earl of Cheſterfield, attended by the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, and ſeveral other Perſons of Diſtinction, review'd the ſeveral Regiments of Militia at Stephen's Green. The Number that appeared upon this Occaſion amounted to near 5000 Men, among whom were many of very conſiderable Rank and Fortune, all well armed and accoutred, and for the moſt part clad in a very genteel Uniform. We hear his Excellency was pleaſed to expreſs the higheſt Satisfaction at their regular and beautiful Appearance.

October 22. Saturday laſt died the Reverend Jonathan Swift, D. D. Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin; the greateſt Genius that perhaps this or any other Age or Nation ever produced; but for ſome Years paſt, he has been intirely deprived of Memory, and by Degrees fell into a perfect Inſenſibility.

The Maſter of a Ship arrived here on Sunday laſt, in eight Days from Southampton, brings Advice, that Admiral Martin had taken and ſent into Portſmouth, a French Privateer of 36 Carriage Guns, and above 400 Men; who exchanged ſome Broadſides with two Men of War of his Squadron before ſhe ſtruck.

By a Letter from Strabane of the 18th Inſtant, there is an Account, that above 7000 Proteſtants will be aſſembled there the 23d Inſtant, to be review'd by the Deputy Governors and Gentlemen of the County.

We are aſſured, that by this Day, there are at leaſt 20,000 regular Forces at the general Rendezvous at Doncaſter in Yorkſhire, with a large Train of Artillery.

Rome, Sept. 21. When the News of the Election firſt came to Rome, the People were ſo overjoy'd at it, that in every Street you met with Proceſſions as in Honour of the Emperor. Although there were only Children concern'd; and that even thoſe Children behaved with the utmoſt Decency, with Regard to the oppoſite Party; the Spaniards were ſo piqued at ſuch unfeigned Teſtimony of Joy, that they have been guilty of one of the moſt barbarous Maſſacres ever heard of. Sunday laſt their Bravoes kill'd and wounded 15 little Children from 8 to 14 Years of Age, for crying God bleſs the Emperor; and that under the Emperor's own Palace, and in Sight of his own Miniſter. This was told the Pope as a Joke; and the Prelate who related it to him, added, That he had died with Laughing, had he ſeen the little Boys tumble down the Hill Head over Heels. Indeed the Manner in which the Pope liſtned to him, thoroughly juſtifies the Opinion he had of his Holineſs's Humanity. A Captain in the Emperor's Service, has had his Cockade pull'd out of his Hat,

Ho, for daring to walk with it in the Piazza de Spagna, near the Spaniſh Ambaſſador's Palace; and ſeveral other Perſons have been murdered and wounded in paſſing quietly over the ſame Square, under Pretence of being attached to the Auſtrian Intereſt: In ſhort, they carry their Inſolence to ſuch a Pitch, that 'tis dangerous for any one leſs wicked than themſelves, to appear in the Neighbourhood: And the Government inſtead of puniſhing the Authors of ſuch Cruelties, endeavour to ſcreen them. The People enraged at ſuch Inſults, have been to Cardinal Alexander Albani, Protector of Hungary and Sardinia, to beg his Aſſiſtance; but inſtead of irritating him, as the Government and his other Enemies would ſuggeſt, he ſtrives to appeaſe them, nay too much, as ſome think. All the Engliſh now here (I mean who obſerve that Name), beſides being branded with the Title of Heretics, &c. have their Doors conſtantly beſet with Spaniſh Spies and Bravoes. Strange Policy! to endeavour to perſuade us into an Approbation of a tyrannical Government, by ſhewing the Odiouſneſs of it.

By THEOPHILUS POLYPHARMACUS, M. D. for the public Good.

Nam pulchrum eſt benefacere Reipublicæ.

SALLUSTIUS.

MY good Friend Dr. Philalethes, having lately publiſhed his Specific Noſtrum (as he ſuppoſes) for the Furor Poeticus and Febris Amatoria, (I don't mean the Green Sickneſs), I, who am an old and experienced Phyſician, and without Vanity can boaſt of as much Benevolence as any of my Brethren of the Faculty, have uſed this Recipe again and again, ſince it's Publication; but I cannot ſay, with that Succeſs I expected: I muſt indeed extoll the Humanity and Chriſtian Spirit of my learned Friend, in making public whatever he thought might be of Advantage to the Community; but alas! tho' his Deſign was noble and praiſe-worthy, I am loth to ſay, that it has not turned out ſo much to the public Benefit, as might have been expected, from the Authority of ſo learned a Voucher: For, inſtead of making a Cure of theſe unhappy demented Poets, I have found to my great Surprize, that it has increaſed their Delirium to ſuch a furious Height, as to put them beyond all Hopes of Recovery, as I ſhall preſently inſtance in the Caſe of one of my poetical Patients; and then, for the further Inſtruction of the Public, and my Brethren of the Phyſical Tribe, I ſhall produce another Recipe, of my own Invention and Compoſition, which I havefound more effectual, tho' I cannot venture to affirm, that it is a true Specific.

'Three Weeks ago, I was called to an unhappy Patient, 'ſeized with a deplorable Furor Poeticus, and complicated Febris Amatoria. After feeling his Pulſe, I aſked him how 'long he had laboured under the Diſtemper; he ſurpriz'd me 'with a jingling Reply,

A well-turn'd Praiſe requir'd the niceſt Skill,
And he who writes ill-natur'd muſt write ill.

'I blooded him, bliſter'd his Head, and adminiſtred a few 'Doſes of my worthy Friend's Medicine; next Morning I called to ſee him, and, How doſt do (ſaid I), Friend Bavius? 'He ſtared wildly on me, and broke out into this Couplet,

Then let the Muſe her tuneful Numbers raiſe,
And praiſe the Beauties for the Sake of Praiſe.

'I gave him a Sternutatory, which operated wonderfully, 'for he ſneezed for half an Hour; I ordered Mr. Sneak, his 'Apothecary, to ply him with proper Topics, to tranſlate the 'Inflammation from the Brain to his Extremities: I viſited him 'in the Evening, as I entered the Room, he exclaimed in a furious Manner to this Purpoſe,

In every Charm ſome glorious Goddeſs place,
But let the Charm the glorious Goddeſs grace;
Let Venus hail her for the Wife of Jove,
And Juno take her for the Queen of Love;
Let Pallas, frowning, ——

'The reſt I cannot remember, his Words were ſo unconnected, and the Senſe ſo jumbled; but I think he raved about 'ſummoning all the Heathen Gods and Goddeſſes to his Aſſiſtance. I applied twelve Cupping-Glaſſes to his Head, and 'threw down a large Doſe of Hellebore; next Morning I found 'he had evacuated by Stool an incredible Quantity of Atra-bilis, which was abominably fœtid: I repeated ſome Doſes, 'of my Friend's Specific, but to little Purpoſe; for he ſallied 'out with

M——a ſings, now bid the Muſes hear,
Or call Apollo from the Chryſtal Sphere.

'I immediately apprehended a Calenture, when he talked of 'Chryſtal Spheres, and therefore ordered frequent and copious 'Injections of Warm Glyſters, to make a Derivation from the 'Encephalon, and applied Sinapiſms to his Soles; next Morning 'I found his Delirium ſtill raging, but the Evacuations, I perceived, had made his Imagination ſink from the Mock-Sublime, 'to the real Bathos; which gave me ſome Hopes of his Recovery. He broke out thus,

See lovely R——, happy, hapleſs Maid ——
Happy the Man whom this fair Maiden loves;
O happieſt he, whom this fair Maid approves!
Great is her Worth, but uſeleſs and unknown,
Or uſeful to her charming ſelf alone.

'I was mightily ſurprized at the Change, and took Notice 'of this Inſtance of the Bathos, or Sink in Poetry, as the moſt 'remarkable Example of the Kind, ever I had obſerved.

'After many Trials to no Manner of Purpoſe, I at laſt luckily diſcovered the following Remedy, which I applied with 'admirable Succeſs; and my Patient is now perfectly recovered.'

The RECEIPT.

TAKE four Lines out of any of Pope's poetical Works, ſix Lines of Milton's Paradiſe Loſt, eight Lines of Garth's Diſpenſary, guarded with four Lines of Butler's Hudibraſs; let the Doctor or Apothecary read theſe very loud to the Patient, every Time he burſts forth into his Exclamations, in the hearing of ſome diſcreet Perſons, Judges of Poetry, 'til the Contraſt produces a Laugh in the Company: When the Patient's raving Nonſenſe, and the true Sublime of theſe great Wits, have been ſufficiently prepared, and their Parts broke and blended together, by the Gelaſtic Conquaſſation of the Air, put them into a large bellied long-necked Matraſs, and there will ariſe a moſt furious Fermentation, from the Antipathy and heterogene Nature of the Ingredients; when this ceaſes, it will produce a Neutrum quid, or a Subſtance neither ſaturated with the Salt of good Senſe, nor flattened with the Phlegm of Nonſenſe. Infuſe for two Days in Balneo Vaporis, taking for your Menſtruum a Quart of pure Water of Helicon; filtre and bottle it up for Uſe. The Doſe is a Gill every Morning upon an empty Stomach.

ANNAPOLIS: Printed by JONAS GREEN, POST-MASTER, at his PRINTING-OFFICE in Charles-Street; where Advertiſements are taken in, and all Perſons may be ſupplied with this Paper.
